

A Wind Through Time

Written by Editor

Tuesday, 14 January 2014 14:12

Enjoy a 'musical journey' of handmade wind instruments, and a few other surprise instruments too, constructed by Yannis Pantazis, a musician, composer, instrument artisan.

His harmony, melody and rhythm tell a story using a mythological narration to explain the development of primitive wind instruments, from the double-flute, to the tsabouna (Greek bagpipe).

The presentation includes a look at the renovation of Pantazis' exhibition space and workshop in La Ponta, a 13th century Venetian tower of the Castle of Akrotiri on Santorini Island in Greece.

This presentation is also interactive - bells and handmade Cycladic Greek drums are put in the hands of the audience.

The message is that "music" is a toy, this is why these musicians say "I PLAY music," educating and uniting people through music and ancient Greek and folk instruments.

A Wind Through Time

Written by Editor

Tuesday, 14 January 2014 14:12

This experience is perfect for musicians, world travelers, historic preservationists, and families. All are welcome.

This even will take place on Sunday, January 26 at 3 pm. $20 per person, $8 for children (12 and under) and $14 for groups of 10 or more, in the black box theater at ARTworks in Beaufort Town Center. 2127 Boundary Street 29902, www.artworksinbeaufort.org , 843-379-2787: art works, art fun, art now.