Beaufort Theatre Company's summer production Nunsense: The Mega Musical is all the fun of the original Nunsense, super-sized with more nuns and fun!

Nunsense: The Mega Musical □

centers around the Little Sisters of Hoboken as they pull out all the stops to put on a talent show including tap dancing, habit humor, and much more!

The production will be held at USCB Center for the Arts on June 8, 14 and 15 at 7:30 pm and June 9 and 16 at 3pm.

Laughter is a blessed event in this made-for-cable adaptation of the popular off-Broadway revue. When the sisters, a former missionary order, discover their cook, Sister Julia, Child of God, accidentally killed 52 residents of the convent with tainted vichyssoise, they find themselves in a bind. It seems they don't have enough money to bury all the deceased nuns, so they decide to hold a fundraiser to help bury four remaining Nuns still on ice in the convent's freezer.

The 15 desperate sisters decide to stage a variety show, so they take over the auditorium at Mount St. Helen's School, where students have been rehearsing for their own production of Grease.
